Low Income Weatherization Program Waitlist FAQs (as of 11/2026)

What is the current status of the Low Income Weatherization Program (LIWP-MF)?

The Low Income Weatherization Program - Multifamily (LIWP-MF) has recently received a contract term extension to last until June 2028. While the program term has been extended, the LIWP-MF program did not receive any additional funding. However, the program will continue to offer free technical assistance to eligible multifamily projects. This assistance includes free site assessment, work scope development, providing preliminary incentive estimates, and identifying potential energy efficiency and electrification opportunities for your project.

LIWP has been fully subscribed since April 2026. While we are hopeful that additional funding may become available, this is not guaranteed. If additional funding is secured, we will promptly contact the projects on the reservation waitlist that are ready to move forward to resume technical assistance and incentive reservations.

As we wait for news on additional funding allocations for the program, we will also be receiving reservation documentation for a prioritized reservation waitlist. If the program receives additional funding, this prioritized reservation waitlist will be first in line to receive reservations on a first-come-first-served basis based on the date this reservation documentation was received.

Is LIWP still accepting new applications?

Yes. Although LIWP funding is fully reserved, the program will continue to accept new interest forms as usual; participants will be notified of LIWP's waitlist upfront. Projects must complete eligibility review to qualify for the reservation waitlist.

Does having a waitlist affect the eligibility requirements/process in any way?

No. The eligibility review will continue as normal, and the LIWP eligibility requirements will remain the same.

What is the 'reservation waitlist'?

The 'reservation waitlist' is the waitlist for projects that have been working with a TA and have submitted complete reservation documentation.

If LIWP receives additional funding, this prioritized waitlist will be first in line to receive incentive reservations on a first-come-first-served basis based on the date the reservation documentation was received.

What do we need to do to get our projects placed on the reservation waitlist?

Once a project has completed eligibility review, the property owner will work with a Technical Analyst to develop a scope of work. Afterwards, we encourage owners to complete the reservation paperwork and submit to the LIWP Program team. The team will process and submit to the waitlist in the order in which the reservation documentation is received.

Will we be notified if a project taken off the waitlist and receives formal reservation approval?

Yes. If funding becomes available, we will be serving projects on a first-come-first-served basis, starting from the date it is received by the Program team. The project contact will be notified via email.

My Provisional IRPA was submitted to LIWP. What will happen next?

All Provisional IRPAs received and approved by LIWP on or before April 2026 have been formally reserved, and any affected projects have been notified by email.

The email notification explained that the formal reservation provides projects with additional time to complete construction, as long as they meet the updated program timeline. All reserved projects must complete construction, install all eligible measures, and submit all required documentation by or before April 30, 2028.

Projects that fall in this scenario of having been transitioned from provisional to formal reservation should have already received a reservation approval email from the LIWP Program.

Please check with your Technical Analyst if you are unsure if your project falls in this scenario.

I, as a program participant, want to add additional work scope that was not included in the original reservation document. Will I still be able to receive the incentives for those new measures?

Unfortunately, not currently. LIWP cannot provide incentives for measures that were not included in the original reservation.

Any additional measures not included in original scopes of work listed in the reservation documents will need to be submitted in a new reservation document which will be added to our reservation waitlist in the order it was received.

Participants are only eligible for LIWP incentives up to the amount originally reserved. If additional measures are installed, any subsequent increases in GHG savings that could have otherwise qualified the project for higher incentives will not qualify for LIWP incentives unless they have been included in a reservation document that has been approved.

Projects are welcome to submit any additional measures planned in a new reservation document that will be placed in our waitlist for consideration pending future funding.

Can I, as a program participant, learn where my project is on the reservation waitlist?

If your complete IRPA documentation has been received by the Program, yes. Please check with your TA to confirm your documents have been submitted.

I, as a program participant, am looking to see where my projects are at in their stages of eligibility. How will I know if my project is on the waitlist or not?

If you are already working with a Technical Analyst, please check in with them. Otherwise, please reach out to the team member you've been in contact with while conducting your enrollment.

Now that LIWP has received an extension through 2028, by when do projects need to complete construction and submit closeout documentation to the LIWP Team?

LIWP has received a program extension through June 2028. Projects must complete construction, install all eligible measures, and submit the required documentation by or before April 30, 2028.

LIWP cannot guarantee that incentives will be paid for projects submitted after the April 30, 2028 deadline.

For additional information on the required list of documentation for incentive payment processing, please refer to the LIWP Statement of Completion. If you have any questions or have any concerns about a project's ability to meet these revised program deadlines, please reach out to your Technical Analyst.
